

PRINCESS TO-DAY.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
HAS A NOVEL COMEDY
PICTURE IN "MR. FIX-IT."

Appearing in his latest photoplay "MR. FIX-IT" as the expounder of the theory that happiness is a habit and comes only to those who afford happiness to others, Douglas Fairbanks will be seen in a new and novel character creation vastly different from those of the wild West in which he recently has been seen with such success.

The scenes of "MR. FIX-IT" are located in the home of wealthy residents of New York, and he is an all round fixer of hearts and things.

REX TO-DAY

GREAT SERMON OF PATRIOTISM

PREACHED YESTERDAY BY BISHOP JOHN M. MOORE AT METH. ODIST CHURCH.

Memorial Day exercises held yesterday morning at the Methodist Church were largely attended by many persons of most every faith and creed represented in Hopkinsville.

The large auditorium was crowded to its capacity and several had to be seated in the balcony. Special music was rendered, the choir singing the anthem, "The Land I Love," and Mrs. L. E. Foster singing the "Recessional" as a solo. Dr. Powell was present and had charge of the services.

Bishop Moore was introduced to preach the sermon and he took as his text Proverbs 14:34 which reads: "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." Upon this subject Bishop Moore preached one of the most powerful and scholarly sermons ever heard in this city. Among the many great principles of truth and justice discussed four stood out boldly and impressed themselves upon the congregation. These four were:

"The world is in a state of reconstruction and it needs new thoughts and new leaders.

"A nation is not great because of its size, its financial wealth, its commerce, or its undeveloped resources; but is great according as its people are spiritual and their national life is based upon the principle of right, justice, and mercy.

"We need a cooperative humanity, an organizing life. We are having a leveling of humanity in our social life. The high places are being brought down and the low places are being lifted up.

"There must be built up a new world brotherhood among all nations. The world must not only be made safe for democracy but democracy must be made safe for the world."

Other churches holding services yesterday morning were, Episcopal, Cumberland Presbyterian and Second Baptist; all with programs in keeping with the occasion.
